

SERIOUS LOSS TO THE NATION

Place of C. K. Davis in the United States Senate Will Be Hard to Fill.

HIS ADVICE IN DEMAND

Was the Balance Wheel in Shaping Policy of Spanish-American War.

ARDENT FRIEND OF CUBANS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 28.—All Minnesota is in mourning today for its distinguished son, Senator Davis. All the flags in the city are at half mast and the doors of all the state and municipal buildings are closed. On many houses here there are emblems of mourning displayed. No arrangements for the funeral have been made, Senator Frye, whose wishes in reference to the funeral will be complied with, not having been heard from. The death of Senator Davis naturally starts speculation as to his successor. Governor Lind it is thought is likely to appoint Charles Towne. The appointee will have only one month to serve as the legislature meets in January.

Senate Will Miss Davis. Washington, D. C., Nov. 28.—Senator Davis' retirement from the senate will leave a hole in that body which will be more difficult to fill than is usually the case when a senator dies. He was one of the half-dozen or more men who dictate the policy of the party in the senate, and of late years his advice constantly has been sought by the president and secretary of state in developing the foreign policy of the nation.

As chairman of the foreign relations committee of the senate Mr. Davis was the balance wheel in shaping events prior to and after the Spanish-American war. He was an ardent friend of the Cubans, but at the same time he was a profound student of the international law and he was unwilling to interfere in any way which could not be justified in the eyes of the rest of the world.

During the year which preceded the declaration of war, senator Davis was of constant belief that a war could not be avoided.

He was freely consulted by the president during the days when the administration held back and Senator Davis either suggested or approved of every one of the dogmatic steps which led up to the war and which were taken with such extreme caution that no one of the European nations could find the slightest excuse for intervention between the United States and Spain.

Chief Man on Peace Commission. Senator Davis was one of the leading spirits of the peace commission at Paris. He did not want to retain the Philippines if he could avoid it, but before he left for Paris he informed a correspondent that this country would be forced to take the islands and do the best it could with them, as a matter of common justice to the Filipinos themselves.

Since he had been at the head of the foreign relations committee Senator Davis had control of the negotiations and legislation regarding not only Spain and Cuba but Venezuelan case, Hawaii the Samoan difficulties, and, last of all, the negotiations with Great Britain which culminated with the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

He Was an American.

Sensor Davis was an American to his finger tips, but he was a level-headed man and conservative in his patriotism. Having been a soldier in the war of the rebellion the chief executive of his state, and repeatedly elected senator, he was admirably fitted for his responsible position.

His successor on the foreign relations committee during the present session will probably be Senator Frye of Maine. He is also chairman of the committee on commerce, and it is understood will prefer to hold that place, where he can benefit his own state to a considerable degree. Senator Frye is also interested in the ship subsidy bill and will want to stay on the commerce committee for that reason.

MRS. LEASE SEEKS A DIVORCE.

Charges Husband with Incompatibility and Failure to Provide.

Wichita, Kan., Nov. 28.—Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Lease will file suit in the district court this week asking for divorce from her husband, Charles Lease. She will charge incompatibility and failure to provide. Lease will not contest the case; in fact he says that he is glad of it. He has refrained from applying for a divorce, he says, only on the grounds that it would disgrace his children of which he is every fond. Mr. and Mrs. Lease have lived apart for three years. She has not been here on a visit for that period, and he has not seen her. The children have been here several times but are now in New York. Mr. Lease is said to pay their living expenses.

Mrs. Lease is about fifty years of age and he is about sixty. They were married at Osage Mission, Kas., in January, 1873, and lived a happy domestic life until ten years ago when she went into politics.

Railroad to Build Terminals. Fond du Lac, Wis., Nov. 28.—The Chicago and Northwestern railroad company completed arrangements today by which it comes into possession of 260 acres of land adjoining the city, where terminal yards for its five lines entering Fond du Lac will be established. The buildings will include division headquarters, round-houses and dispatchers' offices. The move will bring 500 additional railroad men to Fond du Lac.

JANESVILLE HORSES TO BE ON EXHIBIT

National Live Stock Show at Union Stock Yards in Chicago From Dec. 1 to 8.

Janesville will be represented at the National Live Stock Exposition, which will be held at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Ill., Dec. 1-8. This will be the greatest show of the character ever held on earth, over ten thousand of the best animals in America having already been registered in the many classes. Alexander Galbraith has made arrangements to exhibit fifteen head of clydesdale and suffolks, the pick of his large stables and the winners of many first prizes. He is confident of winning some of the many prizes offered at this show in the classes he will enter in.

McLay Brothers who are also extensive handlers of clydesdales have a large breeding establishment on their farm in the town of Johnstown, will exhibit eleven head of clydesdale the cream of their establishment at this show. Their horses have won many prizes during the past season and they are confident that no better horses can be produced. They will ship the horses to Chicago on Thursday evening.

McLay Brothers now have eleven head of horses on the way across the ocean that were purchased for them in Scotland and France by William Hadden, and are coming over in his charge. They will open a sales stable shortly in the former Bowles & Hadden barns on North Bluff street. A rate of a fare and one-third has been granted on all railroads running into Chicago on account of the International Live Stock Exhibition.

OSHKOSH URGES AN ANTI-FOOTBALL LAW

Winnebago County, Wis., Board Appeals to the Legislature to Stop the Game in the State.

Oshkosh, Wis., Nov. 28.—The Winnebago county board by a close vote this afternoon adopted a memorial to the legislature asking that body to prohibit the playing of the game of football in the state of Wisconsin on the ground that "it is dangerous to the health and life of the persons playing it, and many accidents and even deaths are caused by the game as it is now played."

The senator and assemblymen of the county are urged to use their best influence to secure the passage of the bill. The latter action is taken to insure the introduction of a bill to the above effect at all events.

ENTIRE TRAIN RAN INTO THE RIVER

Only One Life Lost in the Wreck of a Flyer on Pennsylvania Road This Morning.

Bear, Penn., Nov. 28.—Only one life was lost in the wreck of the Cleveland and Pittsburg flyer on the Pennsylvania road near here this morning. The victim was express messenger, Casey. The entire train plunged into the river. The passengers and crew with the exception of Casey managed to reach the shore.

TWENTY-TWO DIE IN A WRECK.

Cleveland and Pittsburg Flyer Goes Into the Ohio River.

Beaver, Pa., Nov. 28.—Late last night a Cleveland & Pittsburg flyer went into the Ohio river at this place. Three Cleveland men—Engineer Couchour, Fireman Allen and Express Messenger Casey—were killed. Nineteen others are reported dead, and the entire train is said to be in the river.

Rebels Ambush Infantry. Manila, Nov. 28.—A detachment of the Third United States Infantry was ambushed on Sunday near Malolos. The Ladroneas fired a volley at the Americans, killing two privates of Company F and wounding three. The insurgents escaped into a swamp.

SEVEN MEET DEATH IN FIERCE STORM

SCHOONER MAUMEE VALLEY SUNK ON LAKE ERIE.

Northwest Gales Sink Many Vessels and Do Great Damage on the Great Lakes and the Country Immediately Surrounding—The Survivors Tell Tales of Awful Suffering.

Toledo, O., Nov. 28.—The entire crew of the schooner Maumee Valley which sunk in shallow water on the Point Au Pelee middle ground, has been lost. There were seven of them including the officers. The schooner was owned and commanded by Captain Henry Scanlan. The rest of the men are not known. Scanlan lived here, but it is not known where he shipped his crew.

The schooner was built in 1868 and was 126 feet long and 25 feet of beam. She had a cargo of probably 500 tons of coal, consigned to Schenk at this port. Vessel and cargo will doubtless be total losses.

The northwest wind yesterday finished the schooner Chicago Board of Trade, ashore on Niagara reef. She had coal for Schenck, and ship and cargo are total losses. The Reuben Doud, ashore on Pelee island and full of water, has a third cargo for Schenck and all were shipped at Buffalo.

Tell Tales of Awful Peril.

Columbus, O., Nov. 28.—Eleven men and two women shipwrecked, cold and almost perishing of exposure, were brought into port at Sandusky last night, victims of yesterday's terrible storm on Lake Erie. They constituted the crews of the lumber barges Malvina and Charles Spademan.

Half frozen and drenched to the skin by waves which rose twenty feet high the crew of the Malvina were found clinging to the rigging, the vessel's upper works and deck load of lumber having been carried away. The sailors were landed on Cedar Point beach. Then the lifesavers put out again and rescued the crew of the Spademan.

BEER DRINKING IS ON THE DECREASE

Treasurer of the Wisconsin Brewers' Association Grows Pessimistic—Gives His Reasons.

Green Bay, Wis., Nov. 28.—"Beer drinking is on the decrease in Wisconsin." So says Henry Hagemester of this city, treasurer of the Wisconsin Brewers' association. Mr. Hagemester asserts that the days of fortune making in the brewing business has gone and that the large brewing establishments now fail to return a fair percentage on the money invested.

"For this condition the brewing firms are largely responsible," he said. "It is because of their practice of cutting one another. The decrease in beer sales is due mainly to the increased private consumption in homes and the more than corresponding decrease in saloon patronage."

Mr. Hagemester explained that when men drink beer at home they usually drink what they want, and the total consumption in this way is comparatively small. In saloons the social phase leads men to drink more than the mere desires of the appetite demands, and the result is easily deducted.

IT IS FEARED HE WILL LOSE HIS MIND

Accidental Killing of Companion Renders Prospective Beloit Groom Almost Insane.

Beloit, Wis., Nov. 28.—The accidental killing of Albert Styers by his companion, a young man named Shank, while hunting rabbits Sunday, is particularly sad, as Styers was to have been married yesterday to a young woman of this city. Shank has acted queerly since the accident, talking incoherently and at times laughing and crying. It is feared that he will lose his mind.

BILL TO REGULATE MARRIAGE LAWS

La Crosse, Nov. 28.—At a meeting of the Hamilton club, the drafting of a bill regulating marriage was presented for discussion by W. L. Woodward, an attorney and Wisconsin Law school graduate. This measure will be introduced in the next legislature. It is based upon the Michigan and North Dakota laws, but more directly upon the modified bill which will come before the Ohio legislature this winter. The purpose is to prevent the marriage of persons afflicted with incurable, hereditary or contagious diseases and incidentally to guard more effectively even than now against hasty or secret marriages. The proposed bill was approved as to its purpose, but almost unanimously opposed as to the provisions by the club.

MAJORITY FAVOR A CHANGE IN CREED

THE PRESBYTERIAN REVISION BOARD MEETS NEXT WEEK.

The Ballotting That Has Been Held Shows That out of 173 Votes Thus For 166 Have Expressed a Preference for Revision—How Leaders Stand on the Question.

New York, Nov. 28.—It is apparently now well settled that two thirds of the presbyteries of the Presbyterian church of the North are in favor of making some changes in the Westminster confession and catechisms. Out of a total of 173 votes cast thus far, 166 have expressed a preference for revision or for one of its substitute propositions. This does not mean, however that the creed of the church is necessarily to be changed or revised or meddled with in any respect. The will of the majority will in a measure be determined next Tuesday, when the committee on revision meets in Washington. Officially no information has been given out regarding the status of the vote up to date, but it is pretty generally known how each of the synods has voted.

From this estimated vote the opponents and advocates of the revision seem to be able to draw conflicting conclusions.

How the Leaders Stand.

The revisionists, ably represented by Dr. Herrick Johnson, assert that it is practically settled that there will be some changes in the creed. The other class, in which Dr. Green Craig is enrolled, confidentially believe that owing to the great variety of opinion expressed by the presbyteries the committee will not dare to do otherwise than report for dismissal.

For more than ten years the Presbyterian church of the North has been more or less exercised over the question of revision of the creed. In 1889 the agitation first took definite form. Dr. Herrick Johnson and Dr. Samuel J. Nichols, then as now, being among the chief exponents. In that year the Saratoga assembly appointed a committee to revise the confession, and after three years a plan was substituted, and failed of receiving the approval of a two thirds vote, which is required by the laws of the church. The committee's report was conservative and recommended changes in chapters 3 and 10, treating of the divine decree and of the effective calling, respectively. Since then there seems to be a growing feeling that the creed should be either revised, supplemented, explained or superseded.

GERMANS AT TAKU TAKE BRITISH CARGO

Trouble Likely to Result Over Act of German Troops on a Chinese Steamer

Pekin, Nov. 28.—A sensation was caused here by the action of the Germans at Taku. They boarded a Chinese steamer and demanded two boxes of treasure consigned to a British firm in Tien Tsin, which had been landed. Since they could not obtain possession of the treasure, the Germans hoisted their flag took possession of the treasure and confiscated the cargo.

Spiritualists at Fond du Lac.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Nov. 28.—The first day of the meeting of spiritualists yesterday was marked by a good attendance. Last night an address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Hoskins and was responded to by President Stewart of the State association. An address was delivered by Mayor Hoskins and was responded to by President Stewart of the State association. An address was delivered by Moses Hull of Buffalo, N. Y., and texts given by Georgia Gladys Cooley and Max Hoffman of Chicago.

DOES NOT DESIRE AN EXTRA SESSION

President McKinley Has Given Due Notice That He Will Not Call One

Washington, Nov. 28.—The president has given the members of congress to understand that he does not desire an extra session, that all the important work that is to be done must be done before March 4, and everything left undone will have to go over for a year.

NEGRO GAMBLER IS SHOT TO PIECES

Florida Colored Man Tied To a Tree and Killed By a Mob For Resisting Officers.

Lake City, Fla., Nov. 28.—Spencer Williams, a negro gambler, was tied to a tree and shot to pieces here yesterday by a mob. Williams shot and dangerously wounded two officers who attempted to arrest him.

COMMISSIONER WILSON DEAD.

Gained Fame as an Expert on Internal Revenue Matters.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 28.—George Washington Wilson, commissioner of internal revenue, died at 9:30 a. m. today.

Pneumonia, following a severe cold caught last Thursday, was responsible for death.

Mr. Wilson was 57 years old and a native of Ohio. He entered the union army when 18 years old as a private in the 54th Ohio volunteer infantry and served throughout the war, coming out a first lieutenant. In 1869 he took up the practice of law and in 1869 entered the internal revenue service. He acted in various capacities, rising from one important position to another until he became the head of the bureau.

Commissioner Wilson was regarded as the most thoroughly informed man on internal revenue subjects that ever entered the government service, and was consulted on all measures affecting the revenues that have been before congress for many years.

DRUGGISTS HOLD A MEETING AT CLINTON

DISCUSSED TRADE MATTERS AND BUSINESS AFFAIRS.

Officers of the Rock County Society for the Coming Year Elected—Walworth County Druggists Also Establish an Association—State Convention at Milwaukee Next Week.

The druggists of Dane, Rock and Walworth counties had an enjoyable time at their quarterly dinner held at the Clinton House, Clinton, Wis., yesterday.

A number of delegates from this city and also from Beloit, Madison and Delevan were present at the dinner. Those who attended from this city were: E. B. Heimstreet, Ralph Sarsay, Ed. O. Smith and J. D. King.

The Rock County Druggists' society includes druggists from all the towns in the county. They have an established custom of holding quarterly meetings and dinners at some of the towns in the county. The afternoon are spent in discussing trade matters and other things that may be of benefit to the society.

The officers of the Rock county society are:

President—W. P. Clarke, Milton. Vice President—J. M. Farnsworth, Beloit. Secretary—E. B. Heimstreet, Janesville.

Treasurer—O. L. Woodard, Clinton.

At the meeting yesterday afternoon a number of druggists from Walworth county were present and they were so pleased with the proceedings that they organized a society of druggists for Walworth county with the following officers: Dr. J. H. Camp, Delavan, president; P. H. O'Connor, Watertown, vice president; Will P. Lyon, Elkhorn, secretary and R. S. Young of Darien, treasurer. The first meeting and dinner will be held at Elkhorn, January 15, 1901 and the next quarterly dinner of the Rock county society will be held at Milton, January 29, 1901.

Milwaukee will be the center of attraction for many Wisconsin druggists next week. Monday the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Pharmaceutical company will be held. There are over 300 stockholders through the state all druggists, and many of them will be present. Monday evening the Milwaukee druggists will hold a "hard-time" smoker.

Tuesday the state board of pharmacy, the members being D. A. Taylor, president, Stevens Point; H. G. Thompson, Marinette; A. F. Menges, Madison; H. C. Schrank, Milwaukee; and E. B. Heimstreet, secretary, of Janesville, will hold a meeting at the Hotel Pfister.

Wednesday morning beginning at 9 o'clock, the board will hold an examination in the banquet room of the hotel Pfister which will continue for two days. This is a new feature the examination of the past eighteen years being one day only, but with the increased size of the classes and work, the time has been too short. Secretary Heimstreet says there will be a large class, probably sixty or seventy.

The board will be in session the most of the week.

Girl Accidentally Shot.

A twelve-year old daughter of John Roak, who resides on Western avenue was accidentally shot in the hip yesterday morning by her ten-year old brother who was carelessly handling a 22-calibre rifle. The boy was standing in the door of the house with the rifle and threatened to shoot the family dog. His sister objected to his doing such a thing and he pointed the gun at her to frighten her. As is usual in such cases the gun was discharged the ball hitting the girl in the hip. Dr. Dudley was called immediately, but was unable to locate the ball which had lodged between the bones of the hip. It is thought that no serious results will follow and that the girl will be around in a few days.

ASK CONGRESS FOR ARMY OF 100,000

Secretary Root, Just Back from Cuba, Will Frame a Bill.

OPPOSITION IS LIKELY

President to Have Power to Reduce Force Whenever He Deems It Best.

MAXIMUM PLAN IS IN FAVOR

Washington, D. C., Nov. 28.—Secretary Root arrived home from Cuba yesterday but he was delayed so long enroute that the members of the military committee, which had been waiting patiently at the office for an hour or two went away before he reached the department. They will have a conference with the secretary this afternoon, at which the new army bill will be outlined. The plan is for the members of the committee to submit to him a general plan of the army reorganization which they believe will meet the approval of congress. Secretary Root will then put all this material into the form of a general bill, which will be given the official stamp of the administration.

In general terms the army provided for will be 100,000 men in round numbers, with a provision for the reduction of the army to a minimum of about half in case the president deems it wise to do so.

Most of the party leaders do not approve of the plan to fix the minimum basis and then permit the president to expand the army to the maximum. They say that is unfair to him to assume the responsibility of fixing a maximum army sufficient for all ordinary contingencies, and then let the president have the credit of reducing that number when he sees best.

May Force Extra Session.

The coming session of congress is only for three months. It is interrupted by the holidays, and there are fourteen regular appropriation bills, besides the apportionment measure, which will have to be acted upon; to say nothing of other general legislation.

It can readily be seen therefore, that if Pettigrew or some other senator, who has not been re-elected, chooses to act in an ugly manner, it will be an extremely easy manner to defeat the army bill at this session.

Anything can be passed through the house, but just how strong an army bill can be put through the senate at this short session is more or less of a problem.

The Ship Subsidy Bill.

Members arriving at the capital are discussing the ship subsidy bill with so much eagerness and displaying such a wide diversity of opinion as to give ground for belief that the bill may not have smooth sailing in the house as was anticipated by its friends. Members are cropping up from all over the country who say that they are inclined to oppose the bill in its present shape.

There have been enough of these statements to prevent favorable action, but as a matter of course these different opinions will be reconciled largely and the firm belief is that the measure will get through the house without a great amount of difficulty.

STUDENTS QUIT SCHOOL IN A BODY

Suspension of Principal at Neenah, Wis., Causes Strike of Juniors and Seniors.

Neenah, Wis., Nov. 27.—The students of the high school left that building in a body yesterday because of the suspension of the principal, Professor O. J. Schuster, by Superintendent of Schools J. H. Healy. The action of Superintendent Healy was the climax of long experienced troubles in the school board. Mr. Healy has engaged a successor to Professor Schuster. The members of the sophomore and senior classes declare they will not go back to school under a new principal.

NERVOUS OVER THE AFRICAN SITUATION

English Conservatives Have Eyes on Lord Roseberry As Only Man Who Can Settle Trouble.

Manchester, Nov. 28.—The Guardian says today that the conservatives are extremely uneasy over the turn of events in South Africa. There is a nervous searching, says the Guardian, for a strong man like Roseberry, who would be given unlimited power to end the trouble.

PRACTICE ECONOMY ON ST. PAUL ROAD

SCHEMES TO SAVE THE COMPANY ABOUT $25,000 YEARLY.

Pencil Stubs and Old Pens to Be Fitted for Further Service—Waste for Engine Cleaning Will Be Used Again—Lamp Wicks and Other Things Must Not Be Thrown Away

Charles Hayward, recently put in charge of the supply department of the C. & N. W. R., thinks he has worked out a system that will save the company from $20,000 to $25,000 annually which he believes has been uselessly spent.

After consulting with the superintendents of the Galena and Wisconsin divisions, W. A. Morse and T. A. Lawson respectively, he decided to introduce the service of the economic special. Then he sent circulars to the agents on the two divisions urging greater economy. The inspector started out with a lot of special pencil holders, which he distributed as a means for getting the good out of pencil stubs too short to use effectively.

It is estimated that every year that $500 worth of pencil stubs are thrown away by the employees who have occasion to write and figure. Too many pen points too, the supply men gave out, were discarded before their usefulness had fully passed. He told the employees that instead of throwing away pen points when they become weak they would be expected to revitalize them by heating them with lighted matches. He ordered shop men, machine men and engine cleaners to return their waste to general headquarters before throwing it away. The old waste now is cleaned by a process and returned for further use.

The reform has opened another business to the Vanderbilts and other owners of the road. It provides for the return of all inkstained impression cloths used in offices. These cloths, a very great number of which are used annually, are collected by the chief of the economy special, sacked and sold for old rags. Furthermore to make the surplus showings more gratifying to the stockholders, the supply agent has ordered that every lamp wick be used until there is not enough of it left to connect with the oil in the bowl. Tiny pins have been provided to the lamp users to keep the short pieces of wick in position for continued service.

Trainmen have been ordered to practice more marked economy. They have been given to understand that links, pins, lantern globes, lard oil, flags, torches, torpedoes and other things in common use are valuable and that they would be expected to be as careful with them as they could be.

THANKSGIVING DAY IS PECULIAR AS AN AMERICAN INSTITUTION

First Recorded Thanksgiving Appointment Was Proclaimed in Massachusetts in 1631—Ways of Celebrating the Day.

Thanksgiving day is a peculiarly American institution. History, it is true, informs us that the pious people of Leyden, Holland, observed a day of thanksgiving as early as 1575, to commemorate the first anniversary of the raising the siege of that city. In 1623 a day of fasting and prayer was appointed on account of the drought. Rain came abundantly while the people were praying, and the governor appointed a day of thanksgiving which was observed with religious exercises.

The first recorded thanksgiving, appointed by authority in America, was proclaimed in Massachusetts bay in 1631. Owing to the great scarcity of provisions and consequent menace of starvation, the 22d of February was designated to be observed as a fast day. Before that date a long-expected vessel arrived from Ireland, loaded with provisions, and the fast day was changed into one of thanksgiving.

Benjamin Franklin relates that in a time of great dependency among the first settlers of New England it was proposed in one of their public meetings to proclaim a fast. An aged farmer rose and spoke of provoking Heaven with their complaints and of the many mercies they had received and of the causes they had for giving thanks. He then made a motion that, instead of appointing a day of fasting, they should appoint a day of thanksgiving. To this the assembly readily agreed.

Massachusetts was the first of the colonies to appoint an annual thanksgiving by the proclamation of the English governor. During the revolution thanksgiving day was a national institution, being annually recommended by congress; but after a general thanksgiving for peace in 1774 there was no national appointment until 1789, when Washington, by request of congress, recommended a day of thanksgiving for the adoption of the constitution.

Washington issued a second proclamation of thanksgiving in 1795 on account of the suppression of insurrection. President Madison, by request of congress, peace in 1815, but official recommendation of a day for giving thanks was mainly confined to New England until the year 1817, after which day it was regularly appointed by the governor of New York. In 1855 Gov. Jackson, of Virginia, recommended a day of thanksgiving; but in 1857 Gov. Wise, when requested to do so, publicly declined, on the ground that he was not authorized to interfere in religious matters. During the war between the states in 1863 and 1864 President Lincoln issued proclamations recommending national thanksgiving. Since then a proclamation has been issued annually by the president, as well as by the governors of the various states and the mayors of the principal cities, and custom has fixed the time as the last Thursday in November.

In the early days thanksgiving was a purely religious holiday. Later on it became the occasion for annual family reunions and feasts, preceded by church services. Latterly it seems to have been given over to the football players just as decoration day has been appropriated by the bicyclists. Whether attending a football game is calculated to make men think soberly and seriously of the blessings which have crowned the year is a question which we are told, requires individual answer. Advocates of the great college game claim that the innovation is harmless, yet not even the most enthusiastic among them ventures the assertion that it has a tendency to make anyone feel grateful for the bounties Providence has bestowed upon him. There are many ways of showing gratitude, but the old-fashioned way of thanking the Lord in His house seems, after all, to be the best and most elevating.

"Bogey" will be held on the grounds of the Mississippi Golf Club on Thanksgiving day. A liberal handicap for all members has been arranged for all members by the handicap and game committee. The tournament is open to all members and no entrance to the match will be charged. The tournament will commence at 9 o'clock in the morning and last until 1 o'clock. The prizes will be a handsome tobacco jar given by the Gazette Printing company, a golf club donated by J. P. Baker and a dollar's worth of golf balls donated by a member.

Arrangements have been made for the club bus to meet all street cars from eight o'clock until one. It is hoped that all members will attend and take part in the tournament.

EXAMINATION FOR CLERK AND CARRIER

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that on December 15, 1900, an examination will be held in this city for the positions of clerk and mail carrier in the post-office service. An examination was recently held which failed to result in a sufficient number of eligibles to meet the demands of the service; consequently it is necessary to hold another examination.

All persons who have been examined for the position of clerk or carrier within the past year and failed to pass may be re-examined upon filing new applications in due time.

Johnathan Ellis of Port Dover, Can., is in the city today. Mr. Ellis is a heavy stockholder in the Rock River woolen mills.

END OF FOOTBALL SEASON AT HAND

Cream City Medical College Will Contest With a Picked Nine From the State University—Fire in a Fraternity House Does Considerable Damage—Janesville Boys Interested.

Madison, Nov. 28.—The football season of the university will end with a Thanksgiving game at Milwaukee between the Milwaukee Medical College eleven and a team picked from the first and second varsity squads. Some of the regular varsity players have agreed to officiate at various college games and therefore cannot play at Milwaukee.

Last night at the Capitol hotel a banquet was given by the members of this year's team. A sumptuous feast was served which was all the more enjoyed because of the long period of abstinence the men have had during the training season. After full justice had been done to the viands, a series of toasts were responded to by the coaches and players in which the innumerable incidents

Two of themembers, Chester Barnes of Kenosha, and Charles Collins of Poncehoulia, La., lost everything they had except the clothing they were wearing, and nearly all lost books, clothing, pictures and furniture. The fraternity carries insurance of $1,000 on its personal property, which is more than double its loss. The house is owned by Thos. Morgan, whose loss is about $1,500, covered by insurance for $4,000 with the H. D. Hobbins agency.

Quite a number of Janesville boys are interested in this fire, they being members of the society when attending the state university. Bernard Palmer, son of W. F. Palmer, and Harry L. Reeves, a nephew of Judge J. W. Sale, are both members of the society and are heavy losers.

The members of the society had lately purchased a handsome set of dining room furniture from F. D. Kimball, and a number of the boys residing in the city, not now attending the university, had left many things in the house that could not be replaced. Edward Peterson, Frank McNamara, Ed. Williamson and Sam. Echlin were all members of the society when in the university.

DORMODY-COLLINS WEDDING

Ceremony Was Performed Last Evening at St. Patrick's Church

T. F. Dermody and Miss Lydia Collins were united in marriage last evening at St. Patrick's church parsonage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Collins, in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. The bride was attended by Miss Nellie Bishop and Thomas McKeigue was best man.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Collins. She is a young lady whose many social qualities and womanly ways have made her a general favorite with a large circle of acquaintances.

The groom is a young business man who has the happy faculty of making friends with all he comes in contact with. After the ceremony the company adjourned to the home of the bride's parents, where where an elegant wedding repast was faultlessly served by Misses Dorothy Collins, Margaret Dolan and Mayme Dolan. The room was handsomely decorated with roses, carnations and smilax. After an evening of pleasure the guests departed, wishing the newly married couple a happy life.

NIAGARA'S WONDERS.

POWER FROM THE GREAT FALLS FOR THE BUFFALO EXPOSITION.

Niagara Falls Citizens Preparing to Entertain a Few Extra Millions of People in 1901—Many Costly Improvements by the State.

Within 30 minutes' ride of the Pan-American Exposition are the falls of Niagara, the most magnificent and inspiring spectacle ever wrought by nature for the sight of man. Here, also, are to be seen the greatest electric power development in the world and bridges which are marvels of engineering. To see these natural and engineering wonders over a million people visit Niagara annually. These objects may be said to form a part of the Pan-American Exposition, situated as they are within such a short distance of it, and visitors will find it convenient as well as pleasant to include them in their Exposition itinerary.

The trains of eight trunk lines of railroad and the cars of a double track electric railway will run between the Exposition grounds and Niagara Falls. Visitors at the Exposition who may be pressed for time, but would not miss having a general view of the wonders of Niagara, may board an electric car at the station on the grounds, which will take them along the frontier, through the power district, the city of Niagara Falls and the reservation, across the new steel arch bridge spanning the gorge, past the falls, along the top of the cliff to Queenstown on the Canada side, across the suspension bridge to Lewiston on the American side, along the edge of the water and past the whirlpool in the great gorge to the reservation and back to Buffalo, the entire trip taking up less than three hours' time.

The people of Niagara Falls are making preparations to accommodate such crowds as have never yet been seen at that famous resort. There are 150 hotels and hundreds of commodious restaurants, boarding and lodging houses in the city. Many of them are being enlarged for the anticipated Pan-American business. The city is adding to its many miles of asphalt pavement and park roads, and before the opening of the Exposition all of its principal thoroughfares will be in the finest imaginable condition for driving. A police patrol signal system is being installed, and the efficient police department will be recruited sufficiently to afford the most ample protection to visitors. Ordinances have been established governing the acts of all persons catering to visitors and fixing the fees for services rendered. In fact, the authorities and citizens generally of Niagara Falls, wide awake to the importance of the Exposition, are doing everything in their power to add to its success and glory.

The railroad companies are planning increased facilities for handling the enormous traffic expected. Their stations will be enlarged and trackage increased. The International Traction company is erecting a large and handsome terminal station directly opposite the Niagara reservation and within a stone's throw of the falls. The different lines of the electric railway system on the frontier—the finest in the world—are being equipped with new cars, possessing all modern improvements and conveniences, some of them 50 feet in length, and equaling in elegance the drawing room cars of the steam railroads.

In the state's Niagara reservation new beauties and conveniences are being provided for the Pan-American visitors. A new steel and concrete bridge to span the rapids from the American mainland to Goat Island, for the building of which the New York state legislature appropriated $120,000, is in course of construction. A new administration and shelter building is being erected at a cost of $25,000. The old stone inclined railway building at Prospect Point will be razed to afford an unobstructed view of the falls from the park. A broad stone staircase connecting Goat and Luna Islands, where the rainbows play and delight the visitor with their prismatic colors, has been built and new balconies for sight-seers have been constructed. New beauty spots have been created by grading and seeding wherever the possibility was offered. A flock of sheep will wander at will on Goat Island and add life to the beautiful scene. An automobile service in the reservation will be inaugurated. In the Canadian park many improvements are being made. Niagara Falls will be dressed in her finest for the Pan-American Exposition in 1901. Niagara is an ideal breathing spot. The parks are extensive, liberally shaded and constantly visited by cooling breezes. No Exposition ever yet held has offered to the public an attraction equal to Niagara.

Missouri's Grain Exhibit.
Charles C. Bell of Booneville, Mo., who is one of the commissioners for Missouri to the Pan-American Exposition of Buffalo, is at work preparing the agricultural display for the Pan-American from that state. He is working to obtain from various sources the best specimens of grains, grasses and everything pertaining to such an exhibit, and he expects to obtain from county fairs in Missouri much material for this purpose.

FLOWERS AT PAN-AMERICAN.

Charming Landscape Effects and Beautiful Floral Exhibits.

The Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo next summer will possess unusual charm for lovers of flowers and of beautiful landscape effects. Perhaps in recognition of this the members of the Society of American Florists have decided to hold their annual convention in Buffalo in 1901. Chicago was anxious to win the convention, but in view of the special attractions for its members which the Pan-American Exposition will possess it was decided to meet next year in the Pan-American city. The gathering will bring to Buffalo about 1,000 delegates and their families from all parts of the United States. The floral features of the Pan-American Exposition and its landscape effects will surpass anything ever seen before by visitors to expositions held in the United States. The laying out of the grounds was done with the view of providing for such attractions, and ample space was left for courts and fountains, canals and lakes, which will be bordered with plants and flowers of all kinds and descriptions. While there will be charming scenery of this character in all portions of the grounds, an especial effort will be made to embellish the southern portion, adjoining Delaware park, at the entrance to that part of the grounds where the main Exposition buildings are situated. On both sides of the splendid Triumphal Bridge at this point will be two artificial pools called the Mirror Lakes, connecting with the Grand Canal, which encircles the grounds. The slopes of these lakes and the whole vicinity will be adorned with a magnificent outdoor exhibit of flowering plants set in the midst of shrubbery and trees in such a way as most to enhance the beautiful effect. There will be a large display of rare water plants, including the Nymphaeas and the wonderful Victoria Regia, or Amazon Lily, and many Nymphaeas not before exhibited. Applications for space for exhibits on the grounds and in the special building to be devoted to horticulture are coming from florists all over the country, and the expressed desire of the cultivators of flowers and plants to be represented at the Pan-American insures an extensive exhibition of these beautiful products of nature.

LIFE SAVING STATION.

One Is Being Erected by United States Government.

Work was recently begun on the United States life saving station upon the grounds of the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, N. Y. The site of the station is on the north side of the lake in Delaware park, in one of the most beautiful portions of the Exposition grounds.

The life saving station will be fully equipped with apparatus and men and will be a most attractive as well as novel exhibit. Life saving exhibitions will be given every day during the progress of the Exposition. The apparatus in use by the government for this purpose will be shown and a crew of ten picked men will be employed in giving the exhibitions. The station is to be modeled after one of the regular stations along the coast of the United States.

Hoping to Make Their Fortunes.

The thousands of people who visit the grounds where the buildings of the Pan-American Exposition are rising like a city created by magic see many things which indicate that the value of the vacant lots surrounding the Exposition grounds for money making purposes next summer is duly appreciated. For instance, one real estate dealer advertises like this: "Can you keep a boarding house? Can you run a lunch counter? If so, here is your chance to make the most money." Another advertises, "Choice lots for hotels, boarding houses, saloons, summer gardens, restaurants, souvenir booths and other things by which you can make your fortune at the Pan-American Exposition." All the vacant property in the vicinity of the Exposition grounds is staked off and placarded by signs indicating its value for purposes in connection with the big Exposition to be held in Buffalo next summer, and many buildings are already going up which will be used for accommodations for Exposition visitors and all sorts of purposes connected with their entertainment.

Broad Scope of the Exposition.

Nearly all of the nations of Central and South America have already sent formal acceptances to the invitation to participate in the Pan-American Exposition. Exhibits showing the resources of all the principal countries of Central and South America are now in course of preparation. Government officials are preparing exhibits from the Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, Cuba and the Hawaiian group. About 15 acres have been set apart for the court of the state and foreign buildings on the eastern side of the grounds and a little south of the main group.

CUPID PROTESTS.

[A poem without meter.]

Some birds of today seem possessed of a curious
That I dwell entirely among past and forgotten things.
That I belong to the period of guitars and lutes of courtly and poetic devotion
And could not possibly approach within a century without molting my wings.
They generally depict me in rural scenes, which is a pity!
In the society of shepherds and shepherdesses who play on beribboned flutes and dance in a ring;
They would look with horror upon the idea of my living comfortably in a crowded city.
And, as to my having anything to do with nineteenth century love affairs, they couldn't hear of such a thing!

They won't understand that I do not positively require gallant knights in armor Nor yet the bewitching lilies in powder and patches portrayed by Watteau.
And that I can make myself quite as much at home under the red shirt of a modern farmer
As under the perfumed laces and flowered satin of an incorporeal beau.

I'd like to have them learn that I do not favor the romantic past one bit more than the common workaday present.

That I do not preside exclusively over the Dresden figure style of courtship, all gilding and flowers and pretty speeches in rhyme,
And that often in a little up to date I can find quarters quite as pleasant
As in the inevitable rose trellised cottage where these inconsiderate poets would have me spend my time.

So open, good friends of the present; let me in,
and I'll shortly prove you
That romance is alive and in good health, whatever the poets may say.

That hearts are as warm as ever and that the tales of olden days, "I love you,"
Were not one whit more potent in the age of chivalry than they are today!

Dear Sirs:—Some days since a package of your GRAIN Preparation was left at my office.
I took it home and gave it a trial, and I have to say I was very much pleased with it, as a substitute for coffee. We have always used the best Java and Mocha in our family, but I am free to say I like the GRAIN-O as well as the best cof-

Don't Hesitate.

There is just one thing to use if your stomach is "out of order" and that "one thing" is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The supposition is that you want a prompt cure and a lasting cure. "That is why the "Discovery" is recommended as the one thing for your condition. It
cures promptly, perfectly and permanently diseases of the stomach and
organs of digestion and nutrition. It's sure to help. It's almost sure to cure.
It has completely cured ninety-eight per cent. of all those who have given it a fair and faithful trial.

"About ten years ago
I began to have trouble with my stomach," writes Mr. Wm. Connelly, of 335 Walnut
St., Lorain, Ohio. "It got so bad that I had to lay off quite often two and three days in a week, my stomach would bloat, and I would be in awful distress at such times. I have been treated by the best doctors in this city but got no help whatever. Some said I had cancer of the stomach, others dyspepsia. I have bought and tried everything I saw advertised for dyspepsia and stomach trouble, but continued to get worse all the time. About twelve months ago I was in such a condition that my friends had some fear about my recovery. It was then I wrote to you for advice. You told me that by my symptoms you thought I had liver complaint and advised the use of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' in connection.
These medicines I have taken as directed, and am very happy to state that I commenced to get better from the start and have not lost a day this summer on account of my stomach. I feel tip-top, and better than I have for ten years."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the liver.

THANKSGIVING.

Ingratitude is a sin as common as it was 2,000 years ago, when Jesus healed the ten lepers, and only one of them turned around to say "thank you."

The common blessings of life are so abundant, and the love and friendships of life so envelope us, that good things are taken as a matter of course.

The genuine "thank you" that means appreciation is all too rare, and the heartfelt "thank you" to God the Great Giver, is an unknown tongue in too many hearts.

The feeling of absolute ownership is a pleasant feeling and easily cultivated. Proprietorship means independence and everyone enjoys that kind of freedom. "This is my strong right arm, this is my vigorous mind, this is my well rounded voice, this is my warm generous heart, this is my fortune, these are my broad acres."

In many ways human nature assumes ownership, with undisputed title to all the good things of life, forgetting the other side of the inheritance that belongs to somebody, and includes weakness, failure, crime and a long list of evil that no one cares to own or point to with pride and say, "These are also a part of my possessions."

Miss Helen Gould, the wealthy New York heiress, recently started the "world with the statement that she was a steward, accountable to God, not only for the use of her time and money, but also for the final disposition of her wealth.

Miss Gould has demonstrated by her broad philanthropy during the past two years or more, that she carries her belief into practice, and that she proposes to render a faithful account of her stewardship.

While it is not possible for the average man or woman to imitate Miss Gould, because the great wealth is lacking, it is possible to show the same spirit of appreciation.

Humanity comes into the world helpless and goes out of it in the same condition. Endowments of various kinds, including health, ability, tact, wealth and a score of other good things, may crown the life, but back of all these is a Creator and benefactor deserving of daily gratitude.

It is well that once a year in this land so full of blessings, that a day is set apart for Thanksgiving and gratitude, and that this day so generally observed comes at a season when the work of the year has been gathered in fruitage.

This year of our Lord, nineteen hundred, is a significant year. It is the closing year of the brightest century that the world has ever known, and when the volume is closed the memory of this year will linger as a pleasant memory.

It has been a year of universal prosperity not confined to locality. But widespread and benignant. Honest toil in every department of activity, has rejoiced in steady employment at fair and in many instances, liberal wages. Contentment has been the rule and not the exception, and happiness has resulted.

The country has been at peace with other nations, and a spirit of Christian philanthropy has been generally recognized. While it is true that a spirit of rebellion has existed in the islands of our new possessions, it is also true that advancement in civilization have been made in these benighted lands, with a hopeful outlook for the new century. The Luzon rebel will cease to be a rebel when he becomes acquainted with American people and the nation's plans for his welfare.

The year has contained more of individual success and less of individual failure than any year in the past decade. This is occasion for personal thanksgiving. It is true that death, the common enemy, is no respecter of years or homes. He stalks abroad in the land and his victims fall on every hand. Yet the comforting thought remains that another life of which this is but the threshold, is a part of the great plan of human existence, and that beyond the gateway called death, is an eternal morning where thanksgiving is spontaneous.

The day is set apart for giving thanks, and every heart, however sorrowful, may find something for which to be grateful.

It should be not only a day of thanksgiving, but a day of remembrance. God's poor are always with us and always will be. People who, through misfortune, and frequently through no fault of their own, are destitute of the luxuries and of many of the comforts of life. The day should bring thanksgiving to the worthy poor, because of thoughtful remembrance.

Thanksgiving comes but once a

THE STORY OF ELEVEN POOR BOYS.

John Adams, second president, was the son of a grocer of very moderate means. The only start he had was a good education.

Andrew Jackson was born in a log hut in North Carolina, and was reared in the pine woods for which the state is famous.

James K. Polk spent the earlier years of his life helping to dig a living out of a new farm in North Carolina. He was afterward a clerk in a country store.

Millard Fillmore was the son of a New York farmer, and his home was a humble one. He learned the business of a clothier.

James Buchanan was born in a small town in the Alleghany mountains. His father cut the logs and built the house in what was then a wilderness.

Abraham Lincoln was the son of a wretchedly poor farmer in Kentucky, and lived in a log cabin until he was twenty-one years of age.

Andrew Johnson was apprenticed to a tailor at the age of ten years by his widowed mother. He was never able to attend school, and picked up all the education he ever had.

Ulysses S. Grant lived the life of a village boy, in a plain house on the banks of the Ohio river, until he was seventeen years old.

James A. Garfield was born in a log cabin. He worked on the farm until he was strong enough to use carpenter's tools, when he learned the trade. He afterward worked on a canal.

Grover Cleveland's father was a Presbyterian minister with a small salary and a large family. The boys had to earn their living.

William McKinley's early home was plain and comfortable, and his father was able to keep him in school.—Rocky Mountain Advocate.

A volume of four-line biographies could be written on the men and women of this country who have wrought out for themselves a destiny from very small beginnings.

REAL ESTATE DEAL INVOLVES $30,000

Levi Carle Purchases the Business Property Corner West Milwaukee and S. River Streets.

A real estate deal involving thirty thousand dollars was consummated today when Levi Carle purchased from Edwin E. Fifield and F. O. Howe the corner at West Milwaukee and South River streets known as the Bennett Block. Negotiations for the sale of the block have been under way for some time, but were not completed until today. By the purchase of this corner Mr. Carle becomes the owner of another of the choice business properties of the city. He already owns the block at the corner of North Main and Milwaukee streets, formerly the property of the Smith estate. Mr. Carle is a firm believer in the prosperity of the city and that business property is a good investment. The sale was made by L. F. Stevens, the real estate agent.

EFFORT TO PROHIBIT SPRING SHOOTING

Decided Stand Against It By Hunters In All Parts of the State of Wisconsin.

A decided stand is being taken by hunters in all parts of the state for the repeal of the laws prohibiting spring shooting. The continued poor shooting this fall has disgusted many who were in favor of stopping spring shooting. They claim that they receive no benefit from the law as long as the states on all sides of us continue to kill birds in the spring. The number of birds killed in the spring in Wisconsin are only a drop in the bucket compared with what are killed in Illinois and the surrounding states. The legislature of '99 abolished spring shooting and great results were expected. Reports from all parts of the state show that shooting has never been so poor as during the past fall.

Of course this cannot be laid to the abolition of spring shooting but if there is going to be no fall shooting it would be a good thing to make a short open season in the spring when a man can kill a few ducks without waiting two weeks for a day in which he could kill as many as he could eat.

There is a general movement throughout the state to have the law repealed and no doubt the coming legislature will take some action upon it.

On account of Thanksgiving tomorrow the Court Street M. E. church, the First M. E. church and the Presbyterian church will hold their weekly praise and prayer meetings this evening. It is probable that the other evangelical churches will do likewise. There will be no prayer meeting at the Congregational church tomorrow night.

Mrs. R. S. Stone entertained the Jolly Twelve Club at her home at 166 Center avenue yesterday afternoon. Refreshments were served and all had a jolly time. The first and all had a jolly time. The first prize was won by Mrs. C. J. Mahoney and the second by Mrs. James York.

WILL BE A QUIET THANKSGIVING DAY

All Business Will Be Practically Suspended Except at the Hotels and Restaurants.

From general appearances tomorrow will show a relaxation from labor in mercantile centers, with a congestion of business in hotels, restaurants and private kitchens. At the Myers, the Grand, the Park, Hotel London and the different restaurants, while no especially elaborate menu is being prepared all are figuring on a little better dinner than usual which means that the resources of the market will be taxed to furnish forth well-spread tables.

Other avenues of business will in the main be closed. The stores will observe the day by keeping closed doors. There will be no issue of the Gazette. The postoffice will be open from 8 to 9 a. m. and from 2 to 3 p. m. Carriers will make their early morning delivery and will be at their windows from 2 to 3 p. m. Money order department will be closed for the day.

The day will be given over to the cultivation of the courtesies and the amenities of life which will be to many a welcome from the monotony of the daily grind.

FATHER GOEBEL IS KEPT RATHER BUSY

Three Marriage Ceremonies On His Hands This Morning—Details of the Events.

Rev. W. A. Goebel had a busy morning today, having three marriage ceremonies to perform. The first at 7 a. m. united the hands, hearts and fortunes of Mr. John Volmuth and Miss Rosalia Schwartz both of this city.

At eight o'clock the same priestly hands performed the same ceremony for Mr. Charles McKeown and Miss Margaret Mahar, both of Johnston. They were attended by Mr. Nicholas Mahar and Miss Ellen Keogh.

At nine o'clock the reverend father pronounced the nuptial blessing upon Mr. Michael Hanton and Miss Mary J. Fanning. Charles Hanton acted as best man and Miss Nellie Fanning as bridesmaid. A large company of witnesses were present. After the ceremony a reception was held.

The bride is the daughter of Bartley Fanning, a well known farmer near Johnston. Mr. Hanton is a fireman on the C. & N. W. R. R. Both have many friends who extend best wishes.

EXPOSITION MAKING.

THE PAN-AMERICAN TO EXCEL IN MANY PARTICULARS.

The Most Delicate and Intricate Plastic Work Ever Attempted For Exposition Purposes—Color and Horticultural Embellishment.

The development of the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo is observed with profound interest throughout the western world. Almost every day shows some new feature of the magnificent enterprise completed. Some new tower rears aloft its ornamental plume, some new dome presents its rounded top to the sky, or some new decoration of form or color is added to the wonderful bouquet of architectural loveliness.

Never was there an Exposition so novel, so unlike what the world has learned to expect, as this. With the glorious examples of the Exposition builder's art and genius to look back upon with fond remembrance and admiration, the world has wondered if all that has been promised for the Pan-American would be realized. If one may judge by the present stage of the vast work, the millions of visitors to Buffalo during the exposition season, which begins on the 1st of May next, will suffer no disappointment.

The Pan-American Exposition will outshine its distinguished predecessors in many particulars. Of these the court settings are of first importance. In order that there may be abundant room for the elaborate decorative effects, 33 acres are alone devoted to courts. This area is two and a half times the area of the courts at the Chicago Columbian Exposition. About these broad courts are grouped a score of great buildings, in which the multitude of exhibits from all parts of the western world are to be displayed.

As a second important feature may be mentioned the ornate architecture, the use of plastic ornamentation of very intricate and beautiful design and the employment of original sculptured groups in the exterior decorations of buildings, entrances and architectural features. No less than 125 original sculptured groups, modeled by some 30 or more distinguished American sculptors, will be used in this feature of the decorative work.

The use of an elaborate color scheme has never before been attempted at an exposition. The appropriate title of the "Rainbow City" has already been applied to this great group of brilliantly colored buildings, and lovers of color will find the exquisite harmony of tints that has been produced a most delightful subject for contemplation and study.

As a fourth point of superiority may be named the hydraulic and fountain features. In all the courts are broad pools containing numberless cascades and fountains. These will add to the beauty of the great work in no small degree. Many of the fine sculptures will form a part of these charming fountains. A broad and stately canal, a mile and a half in length, banked with grass and lined with a double row of young trees, completely encircles the main group of buildings.

The horticultural embellishment of the grounds constitutes a fifth point of excellence. Ornamental trees, shrubs, lawns and flowers of brilliant line will

THE STADIUM.

Greatest Year in Athletics at Pan-American Exposition.

During the Exposition of 1901 at Buffalo the greatest athletic sporting carnival that ever took place in America will be held. For the purpose of this grand carnival the largest sporting arena ever erected in America is to be built. It is to be known as the Stadium and will cover nearly ten acres, having a seating capacity of 12,000. It will be supplied with numerous entrances and broad aisles, so that the comfort of the spectators will be assured. The large space beneath the seats will be used for exhibits, being the equivalent of a very large building. The arena will contain a quarter mile track and ample room for the various pageants and exhibitions of live stock, automobiles, farm and road machinery, vehicles, etc. At the western end of the Stadium is a large ornamental building, which forms the main entrance to this grand arena.

CORNER OF THE STADIUM.

EXPOSITION NOTES.

Brief Items Relating to Progress of the Pan-American.

The Chittenden Pottery Company has been granted the exclusive privilege of selling pottery at the Exposition.

Frederick Law Olmstead, who advocates the abolishment of billboards because of their unsightly and unsightly character, is the landscape architect who laid out Delaware Park, Buffalo, a part of which is to be used for the Pan-American Exposition in 1901.

We have only admiration for the courage, enterprise, liberality and energy displayed by the city at the foot of the lake in preparing for the great Exposition which is to be held next year. If ever success was earned, Buffalo has earned it. The city deserves to be filled with visitors during the life of the Pan-American Exposition and to reap a rich harvest of honor, glory and substantial gains.—Cleveland Leader.

"We have never advertised the resources of our state half enough," says The Times-Democrat of New Orleans in an article upon the Pan-American Exposition, in which it urges an adequate representation of the resources of Louisiana. The same may be said of other states, and the opportunity now offered by Buffalo is of exceptional value.

The enthusiasm and interest displayed by the people of southern California in the preparation of their great display of products for the Pan-American Exposition present a lesson and an example for all citizens to contemplate. American enterprise seems to have a very high development in "the glorious climate of California." The Californians purpose to make a very large and effective display.

One of the most conspicuous features of the Niagara Falls landscape now is a mammoth sign handsomely lettered thus: "Pan-American Exposition, Buffalo, N. Y., 1901." There are several similar signboards placed where thousands of people passing and repassing upon the great railroads may in this way have their attention called to the great event of next year which so vitally interests all the states and countries of the western hemisphere.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.

Will Be Represented by a Fine Building and Exhibit at Buffalo.

The Argentine Republic will have a building and exhibit at the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo next summer which will represent fittingly the progressive institutions and commercial and industrial prosperity of that South American republic. The sum of $30,000 has been appropriated by the Argentine government for this purpose.

Argentine merchants, and especially those of Buenos Ayres, appreciate the importance of representation at the Pan-American. Many agricultural and industrial organizations are notifying the minister of agriculture that they intend to send exhibits. It is probable the government will have its exhibit at the Paris exposition brought to Buffalo at the close of the French fair.

Buffalo's Mayor and the Exposition. The Hon. Conrad Diehl, mayor of Buffalo, the home of the Pan-American Exposition, has great faith in the success of the enterprise and is more than pleased with the progress that is being made on the work of construction. He says: "I frequently drive out there and look over the buildings. It is phenomenal the rapidity with which the work is carried forward. The men who are directing the Exposition affairs are shrewd calculators, and they are going to make this enterprise the wonder of the world. Outsiders are becoming enthusiastic over it. Thousands of people who did not go to the World's fair at Chicago will come to the Pan-American. Let everybody prepare to receive them and give them a good time."

MARK BENNETT.

Manitoba and the Exposition. The Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo next year is assured of a representative exhibit from the important province of Manitoba. Special Commissioner Henderson, who has made a tour of northwestern Canada for the Exposition, met with gratifying success in arousing interest in the enterprise.

Oregon Editors Will Go to Buffalo. The Oregon Press association at its annual convention recently voted to hold its annual excursion meeting in 1901 at the Pan-American Exposition.

EXPOSITION BEAUTY.

PUTTING THE RAINBOW COLORS ON ONE OF BIG BUILDINGS.

Early Hints of What the Visitors May See of Molded Plastic Ornamentation and Color Decoration at Pan-American Exposition.

It is now possible to go somewhat more into detail regarding the plastic and color work upon the various buildings of the Pan-American Exposition. The most advanced of the buildings is that to be devoted to machinery. The staff upon the exterior of this edifice is now nearly all in place, and the great structure is in the hands of the color artists.

Though a very large building, 500 by 350 feet, the four facades are so broken by architectural features that there is nothing of monotony or severity. Every one who has the good fortune to visit the grounds during this advanced stage of development unhesitatingly applauds the happy results of both the architectural and color schemes.

In order that the reader may have a correct understanding let me first describe the molded work with which the exterior of the building is ornamented. By means of the very ingenious production known as stucco, which is made out of white plaster, into which liberal quantities of manila fiber have been mixed in order to make it tough and durable, the Exposition buildings are given the appearance of solidity and massiveness as well as the beauty of richly carved stone. But, since the material is not stone, the idea of adding color to the work has been suggested. How to apply the color so that it would heighten the beauty of the work has taxed the ingenuity of the most famous mural painter of the world, Mr. Charles Y. Turner of New York.

The very intricate character of the staff work and the vast amount of it in delicate designs offered a most formidable task. All four of the broad facades of the building have an arched effect. Every window is a deeply recessed arch, with wide soffits and casings. Every entrance is composed of one or more high arches, with massive pillars at the sides, and every pillar and pilaster is of very elaborate detail. Every window is gridded and finished with fidelity to the most artistic ideas of architects of the Spanish renaissance, from which the general architectural scheme of the Exposition is derived.

At the four corners of the great building are four towers, with open pavilions, 50 feet above the ground. Above the great arched entrances on the east and west sides are massive domes. Two very tall towers rise above both the north and south entrances and help to complete two wonderful architectural compositions. Imagine, if you can, the delicate and beautiful character of this unique work. Some one has said it reminded the observer of a skillful confectioner's best achievements in a fancy wedding cake many times exaggerated. The comparison is not inappropriate perhaps, for the Exposition celebrates a closer union of the several Americas, and in the original white the wonderful compositions of staff which crown these towers possessed the apparent delicacy of one of these marvelous creations of the confectioner.

But color has been added, and the white has disappeared. The likeness is no longer there. The brilliant colors that the Moors loved so steadfastly hundreds of years ago in Granada and Andalusia have been revived, better than the originals. The majestic columns and fancy pillars look like carved ivory. The arabesques have a background of brilliant shades, such as yellows, pinks and reds of varying degrees of brightness. The round domes have bands of green and other shades. The roofs are all of red tile. The broad eaves are upheld by substantial brackets that resemble rosewood carved in intricate design. The lofty towers present a radiance of blues, reds and gold. Medallions of Ericsson and other famous men who have given the world wonderful machinery are surrounded with a glow of color.

Difficult or impossible as it may seem to the reader to employ brilliant colors so freely upon a great building such as this without destroying its grandeur and cheapening its appearance, the problem has been magnificently worked out, and the effect is not merely pleasing and harmonious, but the work is an artistic triumph that every person from far and near will delight to see. The wonderful harmony of the many colors that have been used is at once observed, and there is no one feature of the Exposition that has aroused more popular interest than the great color scheme. With the 20 or more other big buildings, all aglow with color and adorned with richly molded plastic work, the effect will be a profound surprise to those who have visited other Expositions.

THE CAMPING WOMAN.

—BY ELIZABETH LYON.

Some Timely
Suggestions From One Who Has Been There.

The season for camping is now on, and camping parties are being organized in all parts of the country for the regular summer outing. That woman has until within a year or two been considered a luxury in camp life rather than an essential part of it is shown by the considerable masculine monopoly in the literature of camping as truly as in the camping itself. But there is no good reason why women should not share the pleasures and benefits of weeks in the woods or "roughing it" on the banks of lakes and streams as well as her men friends.

The term "camping out" has an extended range of employment. People use the expression to include every form of outing from a season in the most virgin form of wilderness to

A RUBBER CAPE IS A RAINY DAY COMFORT. weeks passed on their own farms, where friends may drive out and where mail and supplies are to be had every day.

But camping as it is known to the man of the woods is what the woman of the day should learn to share with all the rest of her harder relatives. A refuge in the woods far enough away to be beyond the reach of friends and unwelcome visitors, really away from the world, preferably without communication except when you seek it yourself, where at least a paddle across the lake is necessary to reach supplies and mail, this is the place that I would suggest for women who want to enjoy camp life as the men know it.

For the woman who is not behind the times it does not matter much whether the camp is to be in the woods, on the seashore or the mountains, but there is one feature of the life that does matter, and matter very much, and that is, as she herself would put it, "What shall I wear?"

In camping out the dress question is bound to be reduced to the minimum. There are two sorts of women who join the camping parties. One appears on the scene with trunks full of clothes, armed with ruffles and flounces for the summer siege upon masculine hearts. The other makes her first appearance in shirt waist and short skirt, and her last appearance, after all the baggage has been packed and sent ahead on the homeward trip, is in the same costume. The first is a summer hotel girl in the wrong place, and the last is the camping girl.

Men would be glad to take the ladies along on their enviable outings into the woods if only they would show common sense enough to leave their frills behind. To become popular in a camp leave your dressmaker's "creations" at home, take a half dozen thick plain shirt waists of pique, gingham or percale, several golf skirts and possibly a white duck skirt and a pretty shirt waist for dress occasions. The sensible woman who can afford it will add a couple of khaki skirts to her wardrobe this year, for that material has found its level in the camp in the woods.

A rubber covering of some sort is an absolute necessity when camping, and in this connection I wish to offer an original suggestion which has been tried by my own party and been declared a great success. In my early experience in the woods, in common with others, I carried a mackintosh. Its uses are limited, however, and at best it is a hot, uncomfortable cover. The many occasions which called for a rubber covering suggested an idea to me, and as a proof of its success I can only urge you to try the arrangement and see for yourselves that it is even better than I claim.

Get three yards of rubber cloth from a dealer in carriage goods. It will cost 40 cents a yard and comes 50 inches wide. In the center of the goods cut a lengthwise slit just long enough to admit of the head being put through. That is all there is to it.

If you should happen to be in a canoe or rowboat and a storm comes up, slip your head through the slit, draw the rear end under you and sit upon it, spread the front end over the body and legs, and you may defy wind or rain to penetrate the covering. The sheet is sufficiently wide to project well beyond the body, giving perfect ventilation and the free use of the arms.

For general wear golf shoes are the best, or at least those having thick soles and stout uppers, while a pair of rubber boots should be in every woman's trunk when she starts out to camp. Heavy flannel underwear and a loose jacket, preferably Norfolk style, are absolutely necessary.

With such an outfit a woman is ready for cold and wet days that sometimes come to make the pleasant days in camp all the more enjoyable by reason of contrast, and besides she stands on a secure footing with the man who knows how to dress in camp, which, after all, is no small part of her happiness.

The woman who has been on camping vacations soon learns many little tricks whereby she can make her tent comfortable and pretty without the inconvenience of many trunks and much baggage. One trunk should be the limit of every member of the party, and when two or three members of one family camp together in one tent a single trunk should answer for the three.

The sort of trunk taken has much to do with the attractiveness of one's tent. The one having a drawerlike arrangement of the trays is by all odds the best. It becomes a simple matter to get one's belongings, and the trunk may be made into a sort of dressing table.

A convenient center-table can be made by passing the central pole of the tent through a barrel. When covered with a couple of yards of pretty cretonne, this makes an attractive addition to the tent's decoration.

Portable frame cots are desirable if the camp is convenient to passable roads, but when much of the baggage has to be carried by hand a half mile or more it is a case of the less baggage the better. To those who object to sleeping on boughs upon the ground an easily portable bed is to be recommended. Such a one is made from a strong piece of canvas about 7 feet long and 6 feet wide. The long edges are sewed together, making a bag with both ends open. To make the bed two light poles are run through the bag, the ends being supported in crochets sticks driven into the earth. Short pieces of wood of proper length are placed between the ends of the poles to keep them apart. This makes a comfortable spring bed, which can be taken down and put up each day. If desired, the bag may be filled with hemlock boughs, making a stuffed couch. Frame cots may be transformed into attractive couches for day use by covering them with rugs or whatever is most convenient. The heavy green or dull red blankets which are sold for camp use make the most desirable covering for cots.

When a camp fire does not supply sufficient light, the bicycle lamp finds a place of usefulness. It fits the front pole of the tent as it once fitted the front of a bicycle, but a commonplace tin candlestick with a candle and a glass chimney beats it.

The camp refrigerator is an ingenious device. Even where there is a general mess inhabitants of each tent insist on individual supplies for the sake of entertaining now and then. A barrel sunk into the ground at the back of the tent makes the finest kind of refrigerator for keeping supplies. Women generally like to make their own coffee, because it is pleasant to make it in the tents after supper and because, too, it preserves the little formality which keeps one from becoming wholly un civilized. Condensed milk, sugar and a small oil stove go hand in hand with camping out in a civilized fashion.

When woman goes in for hunting camps and for life in the wilds, she HANDY CENTERTABLE FOR A TENT. throws all such compromises between town life and wood life to the winds. The bed of boughs is good enough then, and the flames of the fire are better than the bicycle lamp with its insistent smell of kerosene. Even in camping there are degrees.

For the benefit of the uninitiated let it be said that there are two classes of people who should not go camping, invalids and small children. Only those in sound health should venture the exposure that all campers must take. While life in a tent is well calculated to reinvigorate the city toiler worn out by nervous strain and overwork, it is not at all suited for persons of delicate constitution.

"Now Dont Get the Blues."

THE BLUES.

To keep a "stiff upper lip" is almost impossible for an ailing woman.

She doesn't like to say anything about her troubles to her husband, because she knows they will worry him.

She knows that he needs every minute of his time and all of his ingenuity to hold his position and make headway in his business.

She wants to help and not to hinder him.

Yet, she has those awful sensations of weariness and weakness which, fight as she will, she cannot conquer. She has headaches and a dreadful bearing-down feeling which nothing relieves. She doesn't sleep well, and is frequently attacked with dizziness.

She keeps her troubles to herself as much as possible and consults the doctor, who doesn't help her. Then she gets discouraged and blue, and after "a good cry," tells her troubles to her husband.

Of course, her troubles are his troubles, but a man is always more hopeful than a woman. It is impossible for him to understand how unbearable are her sensations. "Now, don't get the blues," he says to her. "Keep on with the doctor's medicine and you'll be all right soon."

She is more cheerful for a while after that, but the medicine doesn't do her any good, and the feeling of failure comes back, bringing the old melancholy and depression of spirit.

Let this disconsolate woman turn to Mrs. Pinkham and she will get the help she needs. In every neighborhood there are women who have been helped by her, and almost every day this paper prints letters from some of those grateful hearts.

If you are ailing and discouraged, why not do as these women have done and get the advice Mrs. Pinkham so freely offers to every suffering woman? Her address is Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. Pinkham's medicine has a well-deserved reputation for curing the ills that give women the blues. It overcomes menstrual irregularities and pain, all uterine and ovarian disorders, and brings the nervous system to a normal state. An ideal medicine for women is

$5000 REWARD

Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonial letters we are constantly publishing, we have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, Mass., $5,000, which will be paid to any person who can show that the above testimonials are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writers' special permission.—LYDIA E. ## Mrs. Pinkham Cured these Women.

MRS. G. H. CHAPPELL

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am glad the privilege to tell of the great good your medicine has done me. I had inflammation and falling of the womb and inflammation of ovaries, and was in great pain. I took medicine prescribed by a physician, but it did me no good. At last I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after using it faithfully, I am thankful to say I am a well woman. I would advise all suffering women to seek advice of Mrs. Pinkham. I remain a sincere friend of Mrs. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound."—MRS. G. H. CHAPPELL, Grant Park, Ill.

MRS. W. A. BECKER

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For years I had suffered with painful menstruation every month. At the beginning of menstruation it was impossible for me to stand up for more than five minutes, I felt so miserable. One day a little book of yours was thrown into my house and I sat right down and read it. I then got some of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. I can heartily say that to-day I feel like a new woman, and shall always praise the Vegetable Compound for what it has done for me."—MRS. MARGARET ANDERSON, 60 Maple Street, Lewiston, Me.

MRS. W. A. BECKER

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot praise your medicine enough. When I wrote to you last winter I was all discouraged. I had terrible pains in my back and sides and felt so weak. I did as you directed and now feel like a new woman. When my babe was born, labor was very short and I have a large healthy child, which we feel assured is the result of my taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I used ten bottles of your medicine and two boxes of Liver Pills. I beg of you to accept my thanks for what you have done for me. I would advise every woman in a pregnant condition to take your medicine, as it is such a help during labor, and makes a strong, healthy child."—MRS. W. A. BECKER, Shenango, Pa.

MRS. W. A. BECKER

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for several years with falling of the womb. Was treated by some of the best doctors in the city, but they failed to cure me. After taking six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am a well woman. The pain in my back has left me after taking the second bottle. Your medicine has done for me what the doctors could not do, and I wish all who are troubled with female weakness might know its worth."—MRS. SARAH HOLSTEIN, 2 Davis Block, Gorham St., Lowell, Mass.

MRS. W. A. BECKER

Mrs. Johnson is helped through "Change of Life."
"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I send you this letter to publish for the benefit of others. I was sick for about nine years so that I could not do my work. For three months I was in bed and could not sit up long enough to have my bed made. I had five different doctors and all said there was no help for me. My trouble was change of life. I suffered with ulceration of the womb, pain in sides, kidney and stomach trouble, backache, headache, and dizziness. I heard of your remedies and began their use. By the time I had taken eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, two of the Blood Purifier, four boxes of Liver Pills, and used four packages of Sanative Wash, I was well and strong and felt like a new person. My recovery is a perfect surprise to everybody that knew me. There is no need of women suffering so much if they would take your remedies, for they are a sure cure."—MRS. CHARLOTTE JOHNSON, Monclova, Ohio.

For This Glad Thanks I give.

I.
Deep thanks I give
For this, if nothing more:
Just to have clung to mother's breast
In simple faith and heard her croon
Music of twilight, full of rest—
Just to have drunk that slumber tune
Into my soul and then to live
Dreaming that sinless babehood o'er—
For this, for this, if nothing more.
Deep thanks I give.

II.
Glad thanks I give
For this, if nothing more:
Just to have been a tameless boy.
Wild as the laughing wind that whirle
Blossoms and birds in madcap joy—
Just to have tossed my tousled curls
At modish laws and then to live
Conning that fearless boyhood o'er—
For this, for this, if nothing more.
Glad thanks I give.

III.
Sweet thanks I give
For this, if nothing more:
Just to have loved a little maid,
Coy as the dainty pink-white flower
Hidden away in a tangled glade—
Just to have learned the wondrous power
Of joy and pain and then to live
Sighing the love song o'er and o'er—
For this, for this, if nothing more.
Glad thanks I give.

A TRAMP'S THANKSGIVING.

BY PETER McARTHUR.

(Copyright, 1900, by P. McArthur.)

After all, Harry Benton was not so much to blame as his wearied friends and relatives thought he was. He had been spoiled as a child and as a boy, so it naturally followed that he was an entirely unhappy young man. His college education made him feel that he was above doing drudgery, and as he had never learned self denial or patience he could not endure such work as he was fitted for. In consequence he looked to his friends and relatives for help until they wearied of lending money and using their influence to get him positions that he either could or would not hold. And he, instead of being thankful for what had been done for him, thought himself abused because there was no great and good friend who would make life easy for him.

At last a family council was held at which it was decided that the only thing for Harry to do was to go west and grow up with the country. Some one knew a ranchman who would give him employment, and a purse was made up to send Harry west. He took to the scheme enthusiastically and imagined for himself a glorious career of hunting big game and living the wild free life of the plains. He had read fascinating stories of cowboy life and remembered how much he had enjoyed camping out during his college holidays. So he felt quite satisfied regarding his future when his friends provided him with what he needed and started him on his journey. He did not realize that they were simply applying the old maxim that says, "Make a bridge of gold for a flying enemy." He did not know that every one who felt any interest in his welfare or felt any responsibility regarding him heaved a mighty sigh of relief when they saw that he was really gone.

"Perhaps he'll get weakened up out there," they said to one another. "Anyway, he is off our hands." And they all sighed again.

Harry reached the ranch in safety and promptly began to make discoveries with alarming rapidity. To begin with, he found that the business instinct prevails on the modern ranch as much as it does on Broadway. Ranches are now run for the purpose of raising beef that must be carefully attended to from the real stage until the time when it is shipped east to the big slaughter houses if the ranchman wishes to make a profit. So Harry found himself called upon to do harder and more menial service than had ever fallen to his lot before. And as he took no pains to conceal his dislike for the work he immediately became the butt of the ranch. Every trick known to the practical humorists of the plains was tried on the spoiled boy from the east until his life became unendurable and his disposition was such that instead of bearing it all good naturedly and making friends with the plainsmen he became embittered and consequently was hated more unmercifully than ever. When he had endured this life as long as he could, he finally sat down and wrote to each old friend in the east who might be expected to help him, asking for enough money to take him back home. He wrote letters that would draw tears from a stone, but, strange to say, they only made his old friends shrug their shoulders and murmur something that sounded suspiciously like "root hog or die." He asked that the money be sent to him at the nearest postoffice on the railroad, and when a sufficient time had elapsed for the replies to be due he got up early one morning and ran away from the ranch. It was 60 miles to the station and post-office, but he was young and strong and he covered the distance without accumulating more than the usual number of water blisters.

Although he did not know the fact at first, he learned after his arrival that it was Thanksgiving day, and his first impulse was to feel thankful at the thought that he was about to be emancipated from the drudgery and slavery of the ranch. But these thoughts were dissipated as soon as he got his mail. He got half a dozen letters, but there was not a registered one in the bunch. But advice! There were pages on pages of the very best of advice. Again and again he was advised to grow up with the country and told how foolish it would be of him to return to the overpopulated east. When he had read the last letter of the interesting collection, he tore them into shreds and left the office in a fury. To see that the people he passed on the street were in holiday attire and to hear the ringing of the church bells made him frantic. He was in the mood to curse every one he met, but knew from experience that promiscuous cursing west of the Mississippi is likely to cause trouble. So he confined himself to cursing inwardly all the friends he had ever had. And whenever he remembered that it was Thanksgiving day he laughed wildly and then returned to his cursing.

Naturally he was not fit to associate with any one when in such a mood, and he rushed out of the little town as if it were peopled with demons instead of the usual mixture of good and bad fellow mortals. Tired and footsore as he was, he was so lashed by his anger that he hurried away along the railway track as if he had a purpose in life instead of being utterly hopeless. He had walked miles and miles before he began to calm down, and then he noticed that he was passing through one of those desolate reaches where an arm of the great desert stretches out through the fertile plains. But the desolate, barren landscape accorded well with his state of mind. He felt that he hated all mankind, and this inhospitable region seemed admirably suited to a misanthrope. But as the false energy of his anger began to die down he began to weakly pity himself and think himself the most abused being in all the wide world. The loneliness grew upon him, and in his wretchedness the tears came to his eyes, and he almost cried aloud, for, after all, he was little more than a boy.

At last he felt so weak and tired that he sat down on the side of the track and wished that he might die out in this desert. Although he still had some of the food left that he had taken with him from the ranch, he could not eat. While he sat there brooding on his misery the Thanksgiving day sun began to get low in the west. But at last his bitter reverie was broken by a sound that reached regularly and gradually came nearer. At first he thought it was the cry of some bird or beast, but at last it became distinct and unmistakable.

"Daddy! Daddy!" And each time the call was followed by a pitiful wail.

To hear a human voice in the midst of this desolation was surprising, but that the voice should be that of a child was incredible. At last a half clad little girl ran out from among the bushes that skirted the railway track and once more cried piteously:

"Daddy! Daddy!"

It was all right to hate all mankind, but to hate a little child was different. And he was so miserable that he could not help feeling sympathy.

"What is the matter?" he asked, rising to his feet. The little girl stopped crying from sheer terror and backed away toward the bushes.

"Well, what is the matter?" he asked. "What's your daddy?" she whimpered and started to cry again.

"What's your daddy?" he asked in a more coaxing voice he could assume. "He's dead, Elsie, and I want him. And we're friends of tramps."

Harry felt his face flaming with a blush of shame. For the first time he realized how low he had sunk. He was nothing more than a tramp. It was almost a minute before he could speak, and when he did his voice broke with a sob.

"Can't I help—help you to find your daddy?"

With the quick intuition of childhood the little girl saw that she had nothing to fear, and she came toward him.

"Daddy has gone away, and Elsie and I are hungry," she said.

"But where is your mother?"

"She's sleeping away over there under the big tree," and the little girl pointed toward a scrub tree that looked big on a landscape of bushes.

"Sleeping?"

"Yes, and daddy says if we are good we'll see her some day."

He understood instantly, and then he asked:

"But where is Elsie?"

"She is in the house, and she is crying too."

"Will you take me to Elsie?"

The little girl looked at him doubtfully; then she took the hand he stretched toward her. She led him to a path through the bushes, and as they walked along she told him that after giving them breakfast her daddy had gone away to get them "Thanksgiving" and had not come back. Presently they reached a little clearing in which stood a rough board house. The spot was evidently an oasis in the desert that had been cleared for a farm. In one of the fields there were several cows and a couple of horses that whinnied as they saw him. It sounded like a welcome. Then they began to hear Elsie crying. The little girl let go his hand and ran ahead. When he reached the door, he heard her telling Elsie that "a real nice tramp was coming to take care of them and get them something to eat." Again his face flamed with blushes, but he entered and began to search for food. In a little box cupboard he found a pan of milk and some bread, and he immediately took down the dishes and prepared them something to eat. While they ate he made friends with them, and his own hunger returned to him. He drank some of the milk and ate some of the bread, and that only made him more hungry. At last the older girl, who had told him that her name was Aggie, showed him a couple of prairie chickens that had been dressed as if for cooking and told him that their daddy was going to cook them for their "Thanksgiving" and make doughboys, but that he had gone away to get them more "Thanksgiving." But the memory of their daddy started them both crying again, and Harry hastened to comfort them. He told them that he could cook the chickens and make doughboys and that then their daddy would come back to them again. So he lit the fire in the stove and put the chickens in a pot to cook. They showed him where the spring was, and he brought in a pail of water and after finding the flour and soda began to make the doughboys which they evidently thought the greatest luxury in the world. His experience as a holiday camper stood him in good stead. While he worked the children talked to him.

"You are a nice tramp, ain't you?" Aggie volunteered as she became more friendly.

"Yes, yes. But don't talk about it. What kind of a man is your daddy?"

"He's just the best man," said Aggie decisively. "He made us that windmill on top of the house."

But at the mention of her daddy Elsie began to cry again, and Harry had his own private opinion of a man who could leave two babies of 4 and 6 years of age alone in a shack on the desert.

It was after midnight before the chickens were cooked and the doughboys were perfect. Harry set the table and washed the two tear stained faces, and they all sat down to their Thanksgiving dinner. But when he started to serve Aggie exclaimed:

"Elsie hasn't said grace yet!"

They all bowed their heads, and the childish little voice babbled a prayer for a blessing on the merces set before them. From that moment Harry felt no disquietude about the home coming of the father.

He helped the children liberally to the food while he kept them interested with lively talk, and then when they were satisfied he took them both on his knees and told them stories until they fell asleep. Then he put them both to bed and sat down to wait for their father. He was so taken up with the thought of the children and with wondering what could have happened to their father that he had no thought of his own troubles. Hour after hour passed, and he was beginning to doze away with weariness when he heard a rapidly approaching footstep. A moment later the door was flung open and a wildly disheveled and travel stained man rushed in.

"Where are my babies?" he cried.

"There in the bed," said Harry.

"Thank God!" the man exclaimed fervently as he sank into a chair. He asked no questions about Harry's presence, but Harry immediately explained.

"May God bless you," the father exclaimed. "I feel that you have saved their lives and mine too." Then he told how he had left to go down to the nearest village to get some things for their Thanksgiving dinner. Instead of taking his team as he should have done he had gone to the railway crossing half a mile distant to take the morning express. By doing so he could have half an hour in the village and then take the return express to the crossing, being gone less than two hours. All trains stop at the crossing, and he did not notice until after he had climbed aboard that the train he had boarded was a swift special, and it did not stop until it reached a station 50 miles away. They passed the train he intended to take on his return at a way station, and as there was no train coming that way before next morning he had walked and run the whole 50 miles back since morning. All the way he was tortured by the thought that when his babies got lonely they would wander out to hunt for him and get lost. And he thanked Harry again with overflowing gratitude.

While the starved man was eating what remained of the Thanksgiving dinner he explained how he had moved out to that desolate place in the hope that a town would grow up around the crossing and how his wife had died. Finally the two tired men went to bed, and for the first time in his life Harry felt his heart filled with a spirit of thankfulness, although on that very morning he had felt all the misery of bitterness against the whole world. He had learned that happiness comes not from the kindness that others do to us, but from the kindness that we do to others. For the first time in his life he realized that it is more blessed to give than to receive, and that was the first Thanksgiving day that he ever celebrated in the true spirit.

TURKEY AND PLUM PUDDING

A Thanksgiving Lament With a Football Attachment.

HAT the man who doesn't eat turkey on Thanksgiving day does not celebrate the day at all is an argument that a no more needs elaboration than a pair of white canvas shoes used as a patent leather shine. There is no substitute for turkey. Caper gracefully over the entire gamut of food, look carefully and dispassionately through the calendar of tidbits, consult thoughtfully and reflectively the enunciation of all that causes joy as it annexes the inner man, and you will find that roast turkey never had and never will have an understudy. It stands alone, like the American eagle, with whom it collaborates for the general glory of the land of the free. It may not be a graceful thing to say that the city bookkeeper who was raised on a farm and whose people are still bobbing buoyantly over the choppy sea of the potato patch returns to the paternal roof-tree for the purpose of eating roast turkey on Thanksgiving day. And yet he would not be so happy if eating, for instance, canned corned beef at the paternal board. Consequently it cannot be denied that the turkey has a rare magnetic influence that belongs to it and clings to it quite as tenaciously as does the onion's razor backed scent to the onion eater who would cast it rudely off. And it is this magnetic influence that, say what you will, does a great deal toward luring him back to the scenes of his youth, where he milked the knock-kneed Alderney to a finish when the east was effulgent with the kiss of dawn and the pancakes glimmered like the golden wheels of Phoebus whirling through the ambient gate of day. The football is another Thanksgiving institution which seems to fit the day because of its resemblance to a plum pudding—not a canned plum pudding, but one of those rotund, clock faced plum puddings that beam upon you like old friends and are eloquent in every raise and soulful in every plum. A good coat of arms for Thanksgiving day would be the gobbler lying upon his back upon the dish with a plum pudding shaped ovally like a football in its feet as if about to spin it as a circus acrobat does a barrel on his feet. It is a great pity that the turkey cannot feel the Thanksgiving joy that he supplies with so lavish a generosity. Headless and footless and with artificial internals, he is a melody and a dream from the wrapper to the very core. And now he is roosting on the bough lost in sweet forgetfulness and flitting in spirit over the playground of memory. The crisp wind causes the leaves to rustle weirdly, but he notes not this music that seems to come from the heart of nature. He sees the rosy apples dotting the sward ever and anon, and when he nods his classic head and his wattles clash like a pair of cymbals he continues to look as if peering across the pensive fields through the curtains of the past. Lucky for him that he doesn't look into the future and see himself the cynosure of all eyes and mouths, the center of the family circle whose smallest members are waiting patiently to break his frail and fragile wishbone while awaiting the appearance of the plum pudding.

That the turkey is the sole proprietor of Thanksgiving day there can be no doubt. Thanksgiving day was not made to give him a reason for existence, but he was probably hatched into the world to make a proper excuse for the invention of this grand American holiday, which was patented at Plymouth in 1620 and is still paying handsome royalties to the many descendants of its creator.

A PHILOSOPHER'S THANKSGIVING

A thankful spirit every man should daily try to cultivate. And those who have a working plan That other folks might emulate Should let their light in public shine; So humbly I uncover mine.

I think it very commonplace To thank for blessings I have got And feel it shows a better grace To thank for things that I have not; For I am happier, past a doubt, Because of what I do without.

When there's a thing I cannot get, I'm thankful that I cannot get it; For when one's ways of life are set Few things are likely to upset it; And frugal fare and quiet ways Most merit philosophic praise.

I'm thankful I am not a king And forced to bear a nation's worries, Nor head of a commercial ring, The victim of financial furries, And I am glad, I'm not so poor That I must beg from door to door.

I'm thankful that I haven't got To work too hard for daily bread And thankful no one yet has sought To change my hour of leaving bed Through which to toil to earn my pay.

I'm thankful I escaped the craze For nerves, appendicitis, golf; While walking in unnoted ways Gave carping fools no cause to scoff, And I am likewise very glad I've missed each literary fad.

I'm thankful that I have no land To nourish weeds and yearly taxes, I'm thankful I've no stock on hand That daily waxes and seldom waxes, And, though I've but a slender purse, An empty one would be still worse.

But think not I like the Pharisee I'm thankful I am not like others; The simple fact is I agree With men I meet as with my brothers. For this I'm thankful, but I guess I give most thanks for thankfulness.

THE ARMY BUMMER'S BIRD.

BY THE REGIMENTAL HISTORIAN.

If the United States government had issued rations of turkey, plum pudding and cranberry sauce, Jake Arden would have foraged for his Thanksgiving feast just the same. Jake's capacity as a forager astonished the regiment, for even when campaigning in those war devastated regions of Virginia which the crows had learned to avoid he managed always to find a savory joint for his mess pot, and the officers themselves would often have gladly dined off the upturned cracker box in Jake's dog tent.

Now Thanksgiving day was coming, and the bummer must have his feast. No use to roam the country and brave the guerrillas in search of native birds to grace the Thanksgiving board. Jake knew better. He scented game nearer home.

One of the characters at brigade headquarters was an unenlisted attache who in a small way acted as purveyor for the headquarters mess. The officers were always ready to pay handsomely for any special delicacy he could provide. He was a foreigner, more greedy than cute and the occasion of no little amusement for the officers and men. On one of his trips north in the summer he brought back three or four young turkeys to raise on speculation. When the army traveled, the coop was strapped behind a baggage wagon or in a pinch on the back of a mule which the thrifty fellow had picked up outside the lines.

Jake and the purveyor, whose surname, Small, was an exact definition of his stature and character, were cronies for revenue only. Jake often gathered a surplus on his raids, and Small relieved him of it at a mutual profit. By the use of flattery thickly laid on the bummer acquired a prospective interest in the young turkeys. It was a great scheme, he said, and he would help it out by giving points on the care of the birds until killing time. With one of the little turks he struck up an acquaintance, and it was soon known as Jake's pet. Every attention of the kind and every word of praise for his long headedness tickled Small, whom the officers affected to tolerate in camp.

November was upon us well into the second week. Corn was plenty in our camps at Pamlico, and the birds were growing fat. Jake was on hand daily to feed his pet from his own hand. Sunday found him putting in his leisure at Small's quarters, where the turkeys were under the eyes of the stable guards. At sundown, when giving his pet the evening feed, he said to Small:

"Here's a bad sign. See his stagger?"

"Why, he has done that before."

"So much the worse. I noticed it, but didn't want to scare you. The bird has the blind staggers."

"That's a horse disease."

"Turkeys get it, too; them from Maryland, where you got these."

"Do they die from it like horses?" asked Small in alarm.

"Yes, and what is more it is catching with turkeys. You may lose the lot."

"Then I'll better kill this one and save the rest."

"No, don't do that here. The scent of the blood will infect the others. When it is dark, let me take him in a bag and tie a stone to it and sink him in the river. Meanwhile you move the rest off this ground to the other side of the stables."

Jake took the pet to the river and tied a stone to it. But the stone had a long tether string and was not thrown into the river, but anchored in a cave hidden among the trees and vines along shore. The corn which he fed liberally was thrown on the ground, and, being free from whiskey, the "staggers" at once disappeared. A party of amazed fellow bummer were entertained in the cave on Thanksgiving day, and there was a banquet at headquarters on the turks which Jake's good officers had saved for the occasion. Of course Small said nothing then of the "staggers" for fear of spoiling his long looked for profit. One turk y "had up and died" suddenly, that was all.

UNION SERVICES AT BAPTIST CHURCH

THANKSGIVING DAY TO BE OBSERVED IN JANESVILLE.

Rev. R. C. Denison Will Deliver the Sermon at the Union Meeting in the Forenoon—Dinner at the Mary Kimball Mission—Poor People Are Scarce This Year.

Thanksgiving, the oldest, and most distinctively American of all our holidays, is close at hand, and in one way and another it will be observed by nearly all classes of people. It is the holiday that ushers in the winter. It is the anniversary which links the present to the past, and there are few so indifferent or so callous that they do not look back over the intervening years and recall that band of Christian patriots who faced starvation on an inhospitable coast beside a wintry sea.

Then they are led to recognize the workings of that ever-sheltering Providence whose activity has always been visible in the course of the nation's history.

As applied to individual experience the day is full of tender memories. It is a day of family reunions, of cementing old friendships and the forming of new ties. Witness the numerous weddings on Thanksgiving. Altogether it is a holiday to which every loyal American clings tenaciously, and which no one would be willing to have stricken from the calendar.

The day will be observed among the church-going people by a union service at the Baptist church, at 11 a. m. tomorrow. The program will be substantially as follows:

Music—Male quartette of First M. E. church.

Prayer—Rev. J. T. Henderson.

Thanksgiving Proclamation—Presiding Elder Stevens.

Bible Reading—Rev. W. W. Woodside.

The Rev. R. C. Denison had been scheduled to preach the sermon, but owing to his illness the ministers interested, late this afternoon, decided to have a platform meeting. Revs. Hall, Henderson and Woodside will speak.

At the Mary Kimball Mission plans are under way for providing 250 poor children with a genuine Thanksgiving dinner, good and varied as to quality, and abundant as to quantity.

This will be a notable event in the lives of many of these poor little people, and it is gratifying to note that the public has responded generously to the appeal. The menu will consist of turkey, goose, duck and chicken, vegetables, salads, pickles, apples, bread and butter, cookies, cake and pie.

The culinary preparations began Tuesday morning, and continued through to this morning. Tables were gotten in place Tuesday afternoon and laid ready for the feast, which will be served in the chapel.

In speaking of the sources of contribution Miss Kimball said all classes and ranks were represented. She spoke with gratitude of the generous aid she had received from saloon keepers, and said that she had never approached a member of this business with an appeal for aid but it was responded to promptly and generously.

The chairman of the Associated Charities reports so few needy families on the list that there is small occasion for special effort. As compared with a few years ago the condition now is almost ideal. Then the association had to carry a large number of poor families where the head of the house was willing, but unable, to find work. Now there is abundant work and the benevolence of the association is spent mostly on widows with small children to support, and cases where sickness has laid hold of the bread-winner.

Of course there is, and always will be, a certain amount of such cases, and these were provided for by contributions sent into the chairman of the board, W. G. Palmer, in the tea store on the west end of Milwaukee street bridge.

At the Y. M. C. A. All young men away from home will be welcome and entertained at the Y. M. C. A. building tomorrow from 2 to 6 p. m. A special effort will be made by the reception committee of the association to make the hours pleasant and profitable. Each and every young man in the city will be welcome as usual. Hand ball, bowling, indoor base ball, basket ball and a variety of other interesting features will be the program of the day.

TO CLOSE THANKSGIVING DAY

J. M. Bostwick & Sons' store will not be opened on Thanksgiving day. This means a holiday for thirty-three people.

A GRAND MASK CARNIVAL

Thursday, November 29, Thanksgiving night, at Palace rink; nearly $150 offered in prizes.

CLOSED FOR THANKSGIVING

Our store will be closed tomorrow on account of Thanksgiving. Bort, Bailey & Co.

Workmen have completed the excavation for the foundation of the new brewery to be erected near the Jackson street bridge by the N. B. Robinson Brewing Co.

JANESVILLE MAN WED AT DUBUQUE

FRED VAN DE WATER MARRIED TO CLARA M. GUERNSEY.

Ceremony Solemnized at St. Luke's Church Amid Beautiful Surroundings—Happy Couple are On a Bridal Trip and Will Soon Locate in the Bower City.

Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, 71 Thirteenth street, Dubuque, Ia., Miss Clara Marguerite Guernsey became the bride of Mr. Fred Van de Water of Janesville, Wis., the nuptial festivities surrounding the event being of an unusually charming and interesting nature, says the Dubuque Times this morning. No bride and groom could have started forth on the matrimonial journey of life beneath fairer skies or with a broader expanse of pleasant prospects lying before them than are promised for the future of those who knelt at the bridal shrine on Tuesday evening and assumed the solemn vows and obligations of wedded life.

It was a lovely scene in the midst of which these vows were pledged and the old story retold among the voiceless witnesses of the flowers; the responsive melodies of the wedding music and loving tribute of the heart's best impulses—a tender tear, a silent prayer.

Dr. George Chittenden of Janesville was the best man.

The bridal toilet was the faintest creation in white crepe de metre over tulle, while a misty veil of tulle, confined to the head with a coiffure brooch of pearls and diamonds, swept in graceful folds to the border of the half train delicate and soft as the waves of the sea foam. A large bouquet of bride's roses bound with loops and long floating streamers of white satin ribbon completed the beautiful costume.

Miss Grace Guernsey wore an exquisite gown of gold colored crepe de chene, carrying a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums tied with ribbons of a harmonizing color.

Mrs. Guernsey, mother of the bride, wore a rich toilet of lavender; laid down, elaborately trimmed with lace.

Mr. and Mrs. Guernsey were assisted in receiving their guests by Mrs. Gould of Clinton and Mrs. Thompson of Janesville.

The groom is one of Janesville's most prominent business men being the vice president and treasurer of the Wisconsin Carriage company.

During his residence in this city by his genial ways and excellent business qualities he has made a large circle of close friends who unite in wishing him a happy married life.

Sievert-Kath.

Mr. Frank Frederick Sievert and Miss Augusta Eleonora Johanna Kath were married at 10:30 this morning in the German Lutheran church, Rev. C. J. Koerner officiating. They were attended by Messrs. Albert Kath and Herman Sievert as groomsmen and Misses Emma Wackwerth and Zio Wilke as bridesmaids. Mr. and Mrs. Sievert will reside in Janesville.

Behling-Lentz.

Mr. Richard William Frank Behling and Miss Friedericka Mary Emilie Lentz will be married at 7 o'clock this evening in the German Lutheran church, Rev. C. J. Koerner officiating. They will be attended by Messrs. Albert Benowitz, Herman Mantheil and Arnold Kurth and the Misses Ida Behling, Adelhaid Grad and Anna Buerger.

FORESTERS HOLD A SOCIAL LAST NIGHT

The Woman's Catholic Order of Foresters held a social with refreshments last evening in Foresters' hall.

An interesting feature of the evening was a fishing basket, from which most of the anglers drew up to date conundrums or moral aphorisms which all sorts of men or women could profit by. There was one gem in the collection, a sterling silver sugar shell which was captured late in the evening by Mrs. Jno. Hogan, who will regard it as a valuable souvenir of a pleasant occasion.

KRUGER ASKS POWERS' AID.

London Hears That He Petitions for Arbitration

UNDER HAGUE CONVENTION.

It Is Reported Two Nations Have Acceded to the Request—Boer Chief Calls on French Premier and is Feted by Paris Council.

London, Nov. 28.—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says he hears that President Kruger has petitioned the powers for arbitration under the The Hague convention, that two powers acceded to his request, but that all the others rejected the petition. The Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail wires that he had a conversation with Mr. Kruger yesterday and that the Boer statesman grew excited and vehement when the reporter hinted that England would ignore all attempts to secure arbitration and would fight any combination of powers rather than give up the republics. "Mr. Kruger insisted," says the correspondent, "that Mr. Chamberlain had signed The Hague convention and could not withdraw. He said that England had earned a just punishment and that if there was a God she would be punished."

Calls on the Premier.
Paris, Nov. 28.—Mr. Kruger began a busy day by making an official call. Before 9 o'clock he departed from the Hotel Scribe, driving in a landau surrounded by republican guards and bicycle policemen, to visit the premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau. He was accompanied by Dr. Leyds, Dr. Van Hammel and Delegate Fischer. The party was met at the entrance to the premier's saloon by M. Ulrich, director of the cabinet, who introduced the visitors to the prime minister. The interview took place in M. Waldeck-Rousseau's private study and lasted ten minutes. At 9:30 o'clock the premier, accompanied by M. Ulrich, returned the call. The officials of the municipal council of Paris and of the general council of the Seine were received at 10 a. m. by Mr. Kruger in the Hotel Scribe. The interview was private and brief. Immediately after the visitors had departed Mr. Kruger drove to the Hotel de Ville. He received an ovation from a large crowd massed in the square in front of the edifice. Mr. Kruger was conducted to the debating hall, where he was given the arm chair reserved for representatives of governments.

The municipal councilors and the people in the public galleries loudly cheered the distinguished visitor. Vice President Escudier delivered an eloquent address, saying Paris had given Mr. Kruger a welcome worthy of his noble character and the grandeur of his cause. He also said: "You have heard the heart of Paris beat. It is the heart of France. Let the peoples speak and speak loudly and arbitration will impose itself as a necessary satisfaction to justice and civilization."

Mr. Kruger said: "Ah, why cannot they hear your acclamations? It would redouble their courage."

Henri Rochefort, accompanied by a deputation, including Deputies Millevoye and Paulin Mery, Senator Provost Delauney and MM. Coppee and Lemaître, today presented Mr. Kruger with a sword of honor destined for General Cronje, now a prisoner on the island of St. Helena.

KRUGER COMING HERE.

Will Probably Seek Refuge and a Permanent Home in America.

New York, Nov. 28.—Samuel Pearson, formerly commissary-general of the Transvaal army, who has just arrived in this country with a number of other Boer refugees, is responsible for the statement that President Kruger will probably soon seek refuge and a permanent home here.

"President Kruger will leave Paris very soon, I believe," said Gen. Pearson, "and come to America, where with his wife he will make a home until such time as our arms have triumphed and he can return to the South African Republic to take up again his office as chief executive of the Boers."

Will Keep Isle of Pines.

New York, Nov. 28.—The United States will retain possession of the Isle of Pines, whatever the final disposition of Cuba, says a Washington dispatch to the Journal and Advertiser. It will be fortified and a strong garrison will be kept there. Lying south of the western end of Cuba, the Isle of Pines commands the western or Yucatan entrance to the Gulf, and forms an important outpost for the defense of the Nicaraguan canal.

Ships Gather for a Cruise.

New York, Nov. 28.—The battleship Kearsarge, flagship of the North Atlantic squadron, sailed for Hampton roads, where the torpedo fleet and several ships of the squadron are gathering for a cruise. The Kearsarge has taken the place of the cruiser New York as flagship during the overhauling of the latter at the Brooklyn navy yard. It is said that the Kearsarge is the first battleship to be made a flagship.

Schooner Czar Wrecked.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 28.—Word has been received here that the overdue schooner Czar of this city has been wrecked off the Mexican coast. Her crew, composed of Capt. Wagner and eight men, has probably been drowned.

How It Happened.

"No, I didn't go to war and lose my legs by a cannon ball," said the man who was getting about very bandily on two cork legs. "I became a cripple through the carelessness of a friend."

"Did your friend drive a beer wagon over you?" was asked.

"No, sir. He owns a cold storage warehouse, you know. One awfully hot day I went down there to get cooled off, and, falling asleep, I was frozen stiff. When my friend discovered this, he pulled me out and pounded me with a crowbar to restore the circulation. Being a careless man, he struck too hard and broke my legs off."

"But he was mean enough to buy you artificial limbs?"

"Well, no. He probably would if I had said anything about it, as he is a mighty square sort of man, but in my thankfulness that he didn't knock my durned head off instead of my legs I forgot to hint at any bill for damages."

Hints to Young Men.

At a formal evening affair it is not deemed polite to ask a lady with whom you have danced but once if she wears store teeth.

Avoid provincialisms. Say shop teeth rather than store teeth if you would be thought well bred.—Detroit Journal.

Definition.

May—Girls, what do the papers mean when they talk of the seat of war?

Ella—I don't know any more than I do what a standing army is for.

Belle—Why, how ignorant you are, dears! The seat of war is for the standing army to sit down on when it gets tired.—London Fun.

"It's different from the pain I feel, though, isn't it, ma?"—Yonkers Statesman.

But Nothing Else.

"Oh, please, dear kind and noble old gent, I've got a wife at home!"

Heuprek (also starting to weep, and talking sympathetically)—S-so have I, old chap. You have my sympathy.

Taboo Cider for Thanksgiving.

With Thanksgiving day and its inevitable mince pie in the near future the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Hartford, Conn., has struck a blow at a cherished Yankee institution by declaring wine cake and brandy sauce on the index expurgatorius. Even cider is tabooed by this exceedingly strict organization, and much grumbling has consequently been heard among some of the members.

The Oldest and Best.

S. S. S. is a combination of roots and herbs of great curative powers, and when taken into the circulation searches out and removes all manner of poisons from the blood, without the least shock or harm to the system. On the contrary, the general health begins to improve from the first dose, for S. S. S. is not only a blood purifier, but an excellent tonic, and strengthens and builds up the constitution while purging the blood of impurities. S. S. S. cures all diseases of a blood poison origin, Cancer, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Chronic Sores and Ulcers, Eczema, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, Herpes and similar troubles, and is an infallible cure and the only antidote for that most horrible disease, Contagious Blood Poison.

A record of nearly fifty years of successful cures is a record to be proud of. S. S. S. is more popular today than ever. It numbers its friends by the thousands. Our medical correspondence is larger than ever in the history of the medicine. Many write to thank us for the great good S. S. S. has done them, while others are seeking advice about their cases. All letters receive prompt and careful attention. Our physicians have made a life-long study of Blood and Skin Diseases, and better understand such cases than the ordinary practitioner who makes a specialty of no one disease.

We are doing great good to suffering humanity through our consulting department, and invite you to write us if you have any blood or skin trouble. We make no charge whatever for this service.

RHEUMATISM

No sure cure is yet known for chronic rheumatism. No man living can cure it always. He can try. If he fails he can try another way.

There are many ways. Some harmless; others worse than the rheumatism. Better not take the chance of quack medicines.

Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil cures rheumatism only by crowding it out by vital force. If that succeeds, it succeeds; if that fails, it fails. It never does any harm.

We'll send you a little to try if you like. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl Street, New York

MUFFLERS

Look up some of the new ones and make your selection now while we have a large assortment.

The CHESTERFIELD

is what most gentlemen like because of its peculiar construction. The two curved edges give it two wearing surfaces besides making it more graceful in appearance. It is made reversible both sides different. 25c to $2.00.

THE OPERA

is made in fancy silks, with the lining quilted with white or colored silks. Very pretty and the most comfortable kind of a muffler. 75c to $2.50. Bear these in mind when you are thinking of Holiday Gifts.

Men's Smoking Jackets

from $5.00 to $15.00 The prettiest line ever shown here before. Lay one of them aside. We will keep it for you until Christmas.

DEATH VISITS DOWIE.

"Divine Healer's" Sister, Recently Wed Expires at Sea.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—"Dr." John Alexander Dowie, who pretends to be possessed of the power of "divine healing," has had the misfortune to have death visit his family and remove his sister, Mrs. Samuel Stevenson, who was recently wedded. Mr. Stevenson is a lace manufacturer, formerly of Beeston Notts, England, who was known at the Michigan Avenue Zion as "Deacon" Stevenson. He became interested in the proposed lace industries at the new Zion city, near Waukegan, Ill., and the couple were married a few months ago and accompanied Dowie on his English proselytizing trip and incidentally to arrange for the shipping of lacemaking machines and the importation of lace workers. On the return ocean voyage Mrs. Stevenson became ill with pneumonia. Medical treatment was denied and she died within a few days. She was buried at sea, and Mr. Stevenson reached New York a few days later. He is expected in Chicago today.

John Sullivan, better known as "Prairie Jack," and Frank Kelly were before the municipal court this morning on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. Judge Fifield fined them each $5 and costs amounting to $1.20 or twelve days in jail. Sullivan paid his fine and Kelly went to jail.

The Rock River Machine company are making extensive improvements to their plant on North Main street. A large addition is to be built on piling in the river at the rear of their present works to accommodate their increasing business.
